RPR Europe 2025 Returns to London: Where Clean Energy Buyers & Sellers Come to Close Deals

The Renewables Procurement & Revenue Summit (RPR Europe) returns on 20–21 May 2025 in London, bringing together more than 300 industry leaders at the sharp edge of Europe's renewable energy market.

Entering its 4th year, RPR Europe is evolving into a unique platform for large energy buyers and PPA originators to meet, negotiate, and close transformative clean energy deals. From corporate offtakers and IPPs to traders, utilities, investors, banks, and policy experts.

The summit offers a 360° view of the procurers and generators behind Europe's energy transition. This includes the likes of Nestlé, Iron Mountain, Sanofi, BMW, Octopus Energy and EDF.

With 2025 set to be a record year for Power Purchase Agreements (PPAs) across the continent, this year's event has content on:

- Managing risk in volatile power markets
- Optimising revenues amidst increasing frequency of negative capture prices
- Decoding complex PPA structures and matching models
- Strategic energy procurement for corporates, public sector agencies, and heavy industry

The summit features a two-day agenda filled with market intelligence and dedicated face-to-face networking focused on 13 EU geographies and originating renewable energy PPAs.

"RPR Europe is the platform for large energy buyers, PPA originators and revenue leads from renewable energy companies," said the organisers. "With current power and PPA prices, we're seeing many more corporates seeking renewable energy PPAs as means to lock in affordable clean energy that progresses their decarbonisation ambitions.

We're looking forward to facilitating buyers and sellers at the event aligning their strategies for a more resilient and decarbonised energy future."

The event is part of the RPR & Finance Series and is backed by a network of leading trade associations and media groups, including Energy UK, Clean Energy Pipeline, Energy Transmission Commission, Facilities Management UK and Volta Foundation.
